Inquiry focus

Students investigate how people understand, value and care for places. Cultural knowledge shared during a program can be treated as one source within a broader geographical inquiry.

Source questions

Who created this account? What place and community does it relate to? What can the source help us understand, and what can it not tell us? Which additional voices or sources should be included?

Local action

Students identify one realistic action that strengthens belonging or care for place at school. The action should be developed with relevant community input rather than assumed on behalf of others.

Planning prompts

What should students understand or be able to do after the experience? Which claims require verification? How will students reflect without being asked to represent a culture? What access adjustments should be discussed with the provider?
